1. Freight car shipments of aircraft parts from Ballenstedt (D45) to Leipzig have increased since mid-October 1947. Some of these shipments have included turrets, glass parts for aircraft bows, and glass panes for cockpit windows.
2. The glass equipment comes from the Kompositglashütte in Ballenstedt.
3. Transshipments from Leipzig go to Erfurt, Dessau, and Brandenburg.
4. On 1 November, the Gerätewerk Magdeburg (formerly Schäffer & Budenberg, Soviet AG) increased personnel from 4,000 to 5,600. This works produces aircraft armatures, RPM counters (Drehzahlmessgeräte), temperature and pressure gauges. Recently the works initiated production of oil pressure gauges and gasoline gauges. A large part of the output goes to Dresden.
